

All You Need is Accurate Pricing Data

The volatility in today's downstream fuel market is unprecedented.

Prices change multiple times each day due to varying supply of fuel products, changes to supplier policies and rules governing rack prices, operating status of terminals, and other factors. Buyers need real-time market and price information to capitalize on opportunities as quickly as possible.

DTN Fuel Buyer Lite gives you an edge. It delivers the actionable insights and analysis you need to monitor the market and make profitable decisions at any time. Our Price Analysis tool even gives you historical pricing data (up to 30 days).

Immediate benefits:

- Create custom price groups based on location, product, and price, so you only see what you want to see.
- Your DTN FastRacks[®] location data appears right in the interface.
- Set price alerts that will notify you via mobile phone, email, or audible alarm so you can respond quickly to changes.
- View, analyze, and manage prices. Capture all your supplier prices and intra-day moves, identify price changes and exceptions, and automate the generation of derived prices to support contracts and other special prices.

Put it all together, and there's a reason why fuel marketers consider DTN Fuel Buyer Lite the superior provider of pricing information and insight.

"Before, it would take us almost three hours to prepare price data for customers. With DTN Fuel Buyer, it takes me probably 30 minutes."
