

Purchasing fuel has never been easier or more efficient

Buying fuel in the downstream market is often a notoriously resource-heavy, analog process characterized by significant inefficiencies around price discovery and back-office reconciliation. Often these challenges prevent buyers from taking advantage of favorable market conditions and executing day deals due to the added administrative burden.

To secure the best deals, you need better pricing visibility, the ability to quickly and simultaneously negotiate with multiple suppliers, and the freedom to execute transactions digitally from anywhere with just the click of a button. With Energy Digital Commerce, you can do all of this and more.

It's never been easier to:

- Improve buying efficiencies – negotiate with multiple suppliers, access a greater number of purchasing options, and optimize your profit margins.
- Streamline your processes – automatically receive order confirmations from sellers and upload sales orders directly into your ETRM with scalable, cloud-based, back-office integration.
- Quickly reconcile information – reduce accounting errors and processing time with improved workflows that help you validate information from various sources.

All your buying options are now in one place. Order fuel, negotiate the best prices, arrange delivery, chat with suppliers, and examine reports — all in one platform.

“Energy Digital Commerce is a really useful tool. It’s simple to use, helping us make quick and efficient purchases.”

Patrick Smith, commercial manager, Portland Fuel

Energy Digital Commerce for Buyers

Seamless back-office integration – significantly reduce administrative tasks by uploading orders directly into your ETRM systems via API integration, plus receive many other time-saving, automated notifications.

User-friendly front end – Energy Digital Commerce boasts an easy-to-use dashboard that's accessible via both desktop and mobile devices.

Enhanced price visibility – view live, dynamic pricing, specific to you, from multiple suppliers on a single, convenient dashboard.

Powerful contract management – manage both intraday and fixed-term contracts directly on the platform, enabling you to nominate fuel purchases against existing contracts, simplifying transactions.

Detailed, visual reports – more effectively manage contract volumes for each supplier and view remaining volumes for easy management.
